SHORT CHANGE ARTISTS ARE BALKED HERE

Suspicious Looking Trio Baffled In Two Attempts To Ply Their Trade.

ELUDE ARREST FOR QUESTIONING

A trio of short change "artists" or would-be holdup men, who spent Tuesday and part of Wednesday in Gettysburg left town before state police were notified of their presence, Trooper John E. Hobbs, of the local sub-station of state police, said today. He urged that hereafter similar actions on the part of any person be reported immediately to the state police.

The trio, riding in a high-powered, wine-colored sedan with natural wood wheels, were dressed alike. All wore dark suits and overcoats, derby hats and white, polka dot scarfs. Two of the trio entered the Citizens' Trust company shortly before 3 o'clock, Tuesday afternoon.

Try Local Bank
One man approached the window at which Robert Hartley was working and said he wanted to open an account. He laid a $5 bill on the counter, and Mr. Hartley gave him a signature card to sign. The man said he wanted to deposit $1, and when Mr. Hartley said the bank did not care to take such a small account from a non-resident of Pennsylvania, the man offered no protest but asked that his $5 bill be returned.

Mr. Hartley said that while he was filling out a deposit slip, the man was seen taking the $5 bill and putting it in his pocket. Mr. Hartley immediately argued with the stranger that he did not receive the money, and the stranger, apparently foiled in a clever short-change attempt, left the bank.

The signature card, filled by the stranger, showed the name of Harold E. Bennett, of Stamford, Connecticut.

A third man remained in the machine while the other two entered the bank. The engine of the car was kept running while the two were in the bank, giving rise to the suspicion that the pair who entered the bank had robbery as their motive, but were prevented from staging a holdup by the number of employees and customers in the bank at the time.

Spend Night Here
The same afternoon one of the trio purchased a few oranges and celery at N. L. Minter's store, Baltimore street, next door to the Citizens' Trust company. The man gave Mr. Minter $1, but when the storekeeper gave the stranger change for $1 the latter said he had given Mr. Minter a $5 bill.

Mr. Minter had counted the money in the register a short time and volunteered to count it again, which he did. The recount showed that the stranger had given him only $1, but was actually trying to "gyp" him out of $5. The stranger then left the store.

The trio are said by state police to have spent Tuesday night in Gettysburg. No other reports of attempted short changing were received by the officers.

Wins Y. W. Essay Prize Of $5.00

Miss Miriam Roth, a pupil in the Arendtsville vocational school, was awarded first prize for her essay, written in connection with the finance drive the Gettysburg Y. W. C. A. is launching next Monday. Miss Roth received $5 for her essay on the subject "The Value of the Y. W. C. A. in Our Community."

Second prize of $3 was awarded to Miss Eleanor Romberger, a student at Gettysburg high school, and a third prize of $2 to Miss Helen Tuckey, also of the vocational school. Honorable mention was given to Miss Helen Baker, Biglerville high school. The prizes were contributed by Mrs. Elsie Singmaster Lewars.

Mrs. Robert Fortenbaugh, Broadway, was chairman of the essay contest. Judges were Prof. Reginald Greenholt, C. R. Wolf and Mrs. E. O. von Schwerdtner.

Blonde Repudiates Story She is Slayer of Officer

Harrisburg, Jan. 16 (AP).—Information that Arizona authorities will turn over to Pennsylvania police Mrs. Irene Schroeder and the two men held there to answer charges of slaying Corporal Brady Paul of the state highway patrol was received today by Major C. M. Wilhelm, deputy superintendent of state police.

Phoenix, Ariz., Jan. 16.—Confession that she was Irene Schroeder, wanted in Pennsylvania on a charge of murdering a state highway patrolman, was repudiated in the county jail here Wednesday by the suspected "blond trigger woman of Pittsburgh."

"I have no son. I never had a son. That's all the bunk," she said. "The two men arrested with her and believed to be W. Glenn Dague, an accomplice in the eastern shooting, is merely a friend and not her husband, she added."

BULLETS WHIP F. & M. CAGERS BY 36-28 SCORE

McMillan Stars With 11 Points; Hall Tallies 10 And Hoke Captures 9.

MEET MARYLAND CHAMPS FRIDAY

Gettysburg college's Orange and Blue Bullets continued their winning streak by defeating Franklin and Marshall, at Lancaster, Wednesday night, 36 to 28, before a capacity audience. F. & M.'s five-man defensive game was unable to cope with the fast-stepping Bullets who penetrated the opposition for consistent markers throughout the pastime.

The Lancasters' floor work and defensive game was sensational in the first half but the steady march of the Bullets was too much for the Lancaster five and their defense crumbled to permit the Bullets to overcome a three point margin and force ahead to victory.

McMillan's defensive work at guard was only excelled by his sensational floor work, passing and basket shooting. The "streak" caged four field goals and three foul throws for 11 points.

Hall, taking Gullian's position as a running mate of McMillan, came through with flying colors to register four field goals and two free throws for a total of 10 points.

Hoke, after a listless five games, recovered his customary form and broke through with three field goals and three free throws for nine points. Hoke has been off-color in the last three games. His floor work and basket shooting have caused no end of worry to Coach Bream and it seemed likely that Doyle would replace the Hanover jump man at the center position.

BIG DIRIGIBLE SIGHTED HERE

Uncle Sam's huge dirigible, the Los Angeles, flew over Gettysburg shortly after 1:30 o'clock this afternoon. The big silver cigar-shaped craft was flying comparatively low. The name of the craft, painted in dark letters on the stern of the ship, was easily discernible from the ground.

Just as the dirigible was sighted in Gettysburg, a light snow flurry was felt.

The ship was bucking stiff cross winds.

York, Jan. 16 (AP).—The U. S. Navy dirigible Los Angeles passed over this city at 12:30 o'clock today. It was flying low in a westerly direction.

Lakehurst, Jan. 16 (AP).—The Navy's dirigible Los Angeles today went aloft the first time it has been out of its hangar since December 9.

Lieutenant Commander H. V. Wiley was in charge of the crew of 29 men, 12 officers and five student officers.

the trio, was identified by police as Vernon Ackerman, recently released from the Oklahoma state penitentiary.

Pittsburgh authorities were expected to arrive here by airplane today to assist in identification of the woman and the man they hope is Dague.

Sheriff Wright said that he believed the trio could be connected with a bank robbery at Coleman, Texas, on January 9, in which a policeman was slain. The man identified as Dague has a bullet in his hip.

Meanwhile, charges of assault to commit murder and kidnapping were being prepared against the trio by the Maricopa county attorney, although it was indicated that local authorities would not stand in the way of Pennsylvania extradition proceedings.

Worried About Boy
The name of the 4-year-old son, Donnie, Wednesday took a place in the affair as human as any in crime.

The innocent statement of the lad, "My mamma and pa shot a cop like you," gave Pennsylvania authorities an indication that Irene Schroeder was implicated in the killing of State Corporal Brady Paul after a robbery.

The challenge here of Sheriff Charles Wright, "Have you heard what happened to Donnie?" brought worried inquiries from the woman, and an admission of her identity.

"Have you heard what happened to Donnie?" the sheriff asked. "Donnie?" shouted the woman. "What has happened to him? You can't take him away from me."

"You think you are pretty smart," she said when she realized she had fallen into a trap. Then she added: "I am his mother, but this mess—well, I love him, but it would be better never to see him again."

Then she ate some sandwiches, drank a cup of coffee and talked frankly to the sheriff.

MERCURY DROPS TWENTY DEGREES

An over-night drop of 20 degrees sent the mercury down to 29 degrees today and brought snow flurries with a promise of more precipitation during the night. Wednesday's maximum temperature of 49 degrees was considerably above the average and led to a false impression that spring was not far away.

Today's temperature was more reasonable than any time this week, a stagnant condition in the atmosphere having caused rain and fog for several days while the thermometer hovered around 50 degrees.

The prevalence of illness in Gettysburg is attributed to the unseasonable weather of the past several days this week, and today's drop in temperature was expected to prove beneficial in checking illness.

COURT DISMISSES LARCENY CHARGE

A charge of larceny against Willis and Wilbur Myers, Latimore township, was dismissed by Justice of the Peace John C. Shealer when the case was called for a preliminary hearing, Wednesday afternoon. Clair Shultz, also of Latimore township, was the prosecutor. The justice found there was no testimony to support a charge that meat taken by the two defendants did not belong to them.

Parent-Teachers Meet On Friday

The Gettysburg Parent-Teachers' association will hold its January meeting at the high school Friday evening at 7 o'clock. Mrs. Kendrick J. Lynch, president, announced today. Professor L. J. Hauser, of the department of education at Gettysburg college, will give a short talk. A business meeting also will be held. After the meeting, the executive board of the association will hold a meeting.

Fairfield P. T.
The January meeting of the Fairfield Parent-Teachers' association will be held Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Lutheran church.

The Grantham Glee club, from Grantham college, will render several selections. The Rev. A. W. Geigley, president of the association, will preside.

STOCK REPORT

New York, Jan. 16 (AP).—After the most strong and active opening of the week, bears endeavored today to depress the stock market with a heavy drive against radio but trading slackened on the decline and the price movement turned upward again before midday. The early advance embraced practically all groups except the oils and motors.

MANY DOGS ARE WITHOUT TAGS

When the office of R. Blaine Kitzmiller, Adams county treasurer, closed Wednesday evening, only 1750 dog licenses had been issued. Wednesday was the last day for 1929 licenses, and records show that only half of last year's total had been issued.

The state department of agriculture has announced that no extension for 1929 licenses would be granted, and has notified its field agents to begin prosecuting owners of dogs without the new tags.

FEW EXHIBITS FROM ADAMS AT PRODUCTS SHOW

County Is Represented With Few Displays At Annual Exposition Next Week.

MANY EXPECTED TO ATTEND AFFAIR

Although few Adams county products will be on exhibition at the state farm products show at Harrisburg next week, M. T. Hartman, farm agent, today said he expects many rural residents of this county to attend the show. Several Adams county farmers plan to show apples and others corn at the farm products show.

In several departments, all available space for commercial exhibits was sold more than a month ago. Despite this condition, adequate space has been allotted for the competitive farm exhibits, and more than 4,000 entries in the various classes are anticipated.

Due to the difficulty in securing suitable buildings, the total floor space this year will be slightly less than the amount available a year ago. However, the four buildings now under contract are especially well adapted for exhibition purposes and are more conveniently located than the buildings used for several of the shows in the past.

Cash Premiums
An increase in cash premiums in several departments is expected to stimulate many competitive exhibitors to give greater attention to the quality of their entries. These exhibits, together with the neat arrangements of the displays, are expected to make the 1930 show one of the most attractive that has ever been held. Many new implements for both field and orchard use will be introduced at this show.

The programs for the annual convention of 25 state-wide organizations of farmers have been completed and are available in booklet, according to the show committee.

The opening mass meeting this year will be held Tuesday evening in the Chestnut street auditorium.

C. G. Jordan, secretary of agricultural, will be chairman of the meeting, and John C. Ketcham, a congressman and former lecturer of the national grange and master of the Michigan state grange, will be the principal speaker.

DR. WENTZ TO SPEAK SUNDAY IN HARRISBURG

The twentieth anniversary of the dedication of the Augsburg Lutheran church, Harrisburg, will be celebrated on Sunday with the Rev. Dr. Abel Ross Wentz, professor of church history at the Gettysburg theological seminary, as the speaker at both morning and evening services.

The Augsburg church was organized January 10, 1892, by the Rev. Dr. Luther DeYoe, and the first church was dedicated November 20, 1892. The new church building was consecrated January 16, 1910.

Next Tuesday evening the annual Men's Night will be held in the church with a banquet served at 6:30 p. m. followed by an informal program. The Rev. Dr. Walter H. Traub, pastor of the Christ Lutheran church, at York, will be the speaker.

Jail Negroes For Disorderly Conduct

Two negroes, Elliott J. Smith, 31, of Richmond, Virginia, and James L. Robinson, 29, of Petersburg, Virginia, were taken from an eastbound Western Maryland freight train in the local yards, Wednesday evening, by Detective Charles Wilson and Troopers Hobbs and Walsh.

Charged with disorderly conduct, the two "knights of the roads," were committed to the Adams county jail for five days by Justice of the Peace John C. Shealer.

SKATES, BIKES ENDANGER TOTS

Roller Skates And Bicycles On Streets And Highways Dangerous To Kiddies.

Thousands of children are placed in jeopardy through the use of roller skates and bicycles on the streets and highways according to J. Maxwell Smith, general manager of the Keystone Automobile club. In urging parents to co-operate for the safety of their children, Mr. Smith said:

"Roller skates and bicycles do not fit into present-day traffic and, reluctantly as we are to place any limitation on the outdoor pleasures of the rising generation, we believe the time has come to treat this condition with the consideration its seriousness deserves. Sentimentality should give place to sound judgment—and sound judgment certainly indicates that a halt should be called to the sacrifice of children in traffic accidents."

"We have noted hundreds of children, many of them between five and ten years of age, roller skating on arterial highways, darting into traffic lanes from side streets and skating from sidewalk to street, utterly heedless of approaching motor vehicles. It should be understood by parents that the child on roller skates has very little control over his movements. He cannot stop suddenly if danger threatens. Experts may avert disaster to themselves by a display of dexterity, but it is apparent that very few children can be placed in that category."

"The child bicycle rider is in better position to protect himself, because he can stop his machine at will. A fact little appreciated, however, is that the rider, after all, is a child, with a child's judgment, and he can hardly be expected to exercise that degree of caution essential to safety in modern traffic."

"Another factor overlooked is the requirement for lights on bicycles at night. The law provides that they shall be equipped with a front light visible at a distance of 200 feet and that they shall also be equipped with a reflex mirror or lamp on the rear, exhibiting or reflecting a red light visible from a distance of at least 200 feet. This provision of the law is very generally disregarded."

Release Couple From Local Jail

Frank Harman and Josephine Openshaw, both of White Hall, Maryland, who were apprehended January 5 in a barn near Brush-town, were released from the Adams county jail today. No charges were preferred against the couple because it was learned that the woman had been adjudged mentally incompetent. She was released in the custody of a relative in Baltimore.

BUSINESS GIRLS MEET

The Business and Professional Girls' club of the Y. W. C. A. will hold its regular meeting at the association building this evening at 7:30 o'clock. I. L. Taylor will speak on "The Use of Money." Officers are urging a large attendance.

Submit Report On Cow Testing

The December report of Harold Herr, tester for the Adams county cow testing association, gives the following records of milk and butterfat production of the ten highest yielding cows:

E. A. Bubb, 1674 pounds of milk, 70.2 pounds of butterfat; T. N. Cashman, 2,060, 66.0; E. H. Herr, 1804, 64.9; Mrs. C. J. Weaver, 1373, 59.0; Mrs. C. J. Weaver, 1323, 56.8; George Motter, 1280, 55.0; A. B. C. Williams, 1357, 52.9; Mrs. C. J. Weaver, 1280, 52.4; J. C. Bream, 1534, 52.1 and A. B. C. Williams, 1559, 51.4.

NATURAL GAS LINE SOUGHT

Upper County Residents Will Benefit By Application Before Commission.

Many residents of Gettysburg and Adams county will benefit by the extension of the natural gas pipe line, if the application before the public service commission is approved. The pipe line will pass through the upper end of the county.

Harrisburg, Jan. 16 (AP).—One of the first steps in the proposed plan of the Manufacturers' Light and Heat company, of Pittsburgh, to service natural gas to the southern tier counties of Pennsylvania was taken today in an application filed with the Public Service Commission here. The petition seeks the approval of the commission on the sale of a pipe line system of the Southern Pipe Line company to the Manufacturers' company.

The system of pipes involved in the proposed transaction extend from the Pennsylvania-West Virginia state line to Millway, Lancaster county.

The proposed plan of the Manufacturers' company provides for supplying natural gas for light, heat and power purposes in the southern tier counties where there is no available supply of natural gas. The pipe system in question would be connected with the natural gas pipe line system now operated by the Manufacturers' company.

It is expected that all artificial gas producers in the southern Pennsylvania counties will oppose the introduction of natural gas in this section.

FIREMEN CLEAR $565.00 AT FAIR

The Arendtsville Community Fire company has just closed a three-nights fair. Receipts were $951.72 and profits to the company totalled $565.23, it is reported by L. E. Myers, president of the company, who adds that "the company is extremely gratified with the very successful outcome of the fair."

HOSPITAL REPORT

Harvey Sipling, Gettysburg R. 4, and Stella May Cline, York Springs, were admitted as patients to the Warner hospital, Aaron Taylor, Warner, and John Hall, Orrtanna R. 4, were discharged as patients.

PLAN RECEPTION FOR NEW PASTOR

Christ Lutheran Congregation To Receive Rev. D. F. Putnam February 2.

A committee to plan a reception for the Rev. Dwight F. Putnam, newly-elected pastor of Christ Lutheran church, Chambersburg street, was ordered appointed at a congregational meeting, Monday evening, Dr. R. S. Saby, Carlisle street, who was elected chairman of the meeting, said he would name the committee in a day or two.

Before the congregational meeting, which was largely attended, the Rev. Dr. Luther Kuhlman, acting pastor of the church, conducted devotional exercises.

The Rev. Mr. Putnam, a graduate of Gettysburg college and the Lutheran theological seminary here, is now located at Hudson Heights, New Jersey. He is expected to move to Gettysburg about February 1, and his installation as pastor of Christ Lutheran church will probably take place February 2.

Six places on the church council, three elders and three deacons, were filled at the meeting by the re-election of the former officers.

The congregation adopted a resolution setting forth that hereafter councilmen shall be eligible for only two successive terms. The time of the annual congregational meeting was fixed for the third Wednesday of January.

Lloyd C. Keefe, Steinwehr avenue, was secretary of the meeting.

Loan Association Elects Officers

At the annual meeting of stockholders of the Adams County National Farm Loan association, Tuesday, the following directors were elected:

John H. Knox, Leo L. Redding, John Epleman, David G. Lott, Frank Felix and Harvey A. Miller. The directors organized by electing Mr. Knox president; Mr. Lott, secretary; Attorney C. E. Stahl, secretary-treasurer, and John Epleman, David G. Lott and Frank Felix, loan committee.

State Firemen To Meet In Lancaster

The first quarterly meeting of the Southeastern firemen's association will be held in the Red Men's hall, East King street, Lancaster, tonight at 7:30 o'clock. J. Milton Bach, of Lebanon, president of the association, will preside.

A large delegation from Adams county is expected to attend the meeting of the association which embraces Adams, Cumberland, Dauphin, Lebanon, Lancaster and York counties.

ISSUE ESTATE LETTERS

Letters of administration on the estate of George W. Hiltbrich, late of Germany township, were issued in the office of C. G. Taughinbaugh, register and recorder, to his widow, Mrs. Mary S. Hiltbrich. Personal property is valued at $450.

BANK ROBBER SUSPECT SAYS HE TAUGHT HERE

Marcus Leroy Burdick Was Instructor In English And Public Speaking.

WILL GO ON TRIAL IN WEST MONDAY

Springfield, Mo., Jan. 16 (AP).—The Springfield Leader, Wednesday, said that Leroy Burdick, held in the Webster county jail, at Marshfield, Mo., for bank robbery, told the paper that he was a graduate of Bowdoin college, at Brunswick, Maine, and a former instructor of English at Gettysburg college.

Marcus Leroy Burdick, mentioned in the above dispatch, was an instructor in English and public speaking at Gettysburg college for one year. He taught during the 1917-18 term, after which he is said to have enlisted in the Purple Cross division of the Army for service in France. The Purple Cross was the undertakers' branch of the service.

Burdick remained here one year. He is remembered by local professors who were on the faculty staff at that time. Others recall the instructor as a man of peculiar actions. He is reported to have secured his master's degree at the University of Chicago. Little is known of his life previous to that time. He is said to have been married when he came here.

After Burdick left Gettysburg it is reported that he left his wife under strange circumstances. He was said to be about 30 years of age at the time he taught here.

Springfield, Mo., Jan. 16 (AP).—The Springfield Leader says in telling of his life, Burdick said he had also taught English in the high school at Wilmington, Del., and had aspired to a chair of languages in the University of Virginia when he was forced to quit teaching as his health failed and his wife divorced him.

Worked On Ranch

The paper said that Burdick reported that after the failure of a business venture at Cambridge Springs, Pa., he went West and for a time worked on a Montana ranch. He said he was attempting to make his way back to the East, hoping to obtain another teaching position when he met R. R. David, a salesman at Louisville, Ky., according to the Leader.

According to the Leader, Burdick said David forced him to aid in robbing a bank at Rogersville. David was killed by a posse while the two men were attempting to escape. Burdick will go on trial at Marshfield next Monday.

Countian Dies Wednesday Noon

J. Frank Boose, Littlestown, died at 12 o'clock Wednesday noon from a complication of diseases at the age of 55 years. He was a son of the late John and Savilla Boose, and is survived by his wife, who was Miss Lottie Feaser, and four sons and one daughter as follows:

Lloyd Boose, Springfield, O.; Millard Boose, Littlestown; Orville Boose, Springfield, O., and Evelyn and Fred Boose, at home. Two sisters, Mrs. Thomas Harmon, Littlestown, and Mrs. Wilson Crouse, near Littlestown, and two brothers, Edwin Boose, Brunswick, Md., and Milton Boose, Littlestown, also survive.

Mr. Boose was a member of Littlestown Camp No. 396, Patriotic Order Sons of America. Funeral services Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home, the Rev. H. H. Hartman, pastor of Christ Reformed church, near Littlestown, officiating. Burial in Christ church cemetery.

OWNS BED MADE OF WOOD FROM TREE ON "ROUND TOP"

Miss Martha Foller, of York, is the owner of a bed made from wood of a tree which stood on "Little Round Top" on the Gettysburg battlefield, before the Civil War. The tree was cut down 75 years ago by William Kline, who lived on a farm at Little Round Top. He converted the tree into a bed, which was given to his daughter, Lily, who later married John J. Foller. Mrs. Foller gave the bed to her granddaughter, Miss Martha Foller.

QUESTION of HONOR

by Ruth Cross

SYNOPSIS: A plot conceived by Leon Morse to defeat Scott Glenn and halt construction of the dam is foiled. A heavy dynamite blast rocks a dancehall and a threatening crowd turns on Glenn. He is saved by Anne Wilmot, who starts a stampede of women to their frightened babies. Anne finds Glenn a compelling subject on which to test her charms and walks alone to find his mountain home. She is caught in a thunderstorm and seeks shelter in Glenn's shack. There the young engineer finds her and they chat amiably under a romantic spell as the storm continues.

Chapter 13

A PUZZLING MAN

It was a stirring story to which Anne listened as she sat by Glenn's fire in front of the blazing log fire, a narrative of an unconquerable will battling the forces of nature.

In its simple telling, it lost none of its drama and much against her will, Anne found her pulse quickening as Glenn pictured the thousands of acres of barren sagebrush desert transformed into gardens, orchards and farms.

Anne could see that it was a genuine pleasure for him to have a verbal outlet for the interest which claimed his attention and plumbed the depths of his engineering skill and tenacity.

He sketched the engineering obstacles in a clear, concise manner. Of the clash with Morse and Douglas over the right of way Glenn said nothing but did tell her of the stubborn, unreasoning hostility encountered from the ranchers in the vicinity of the reservoir.

"As for Burkhalter," said Glenn, "he's not a bad sort, once he gets on the right side of a question. But he's bull-headed and rather dense, and, unfortunately, he has a very strong following in the community."

"Don't you think he may try it again some day—some variation of the scene of the dance?" Anne inquired.

"Oh, I don't know—I shan't take any unnecessary chances of course," Glenn stood drumming his knuckles abstractedly against the window pane, staring off towards the distant peaks, beginning now to lift their heads above the thick gray mist which was succeeding the first downpour of rain.

Anne guessed that he had forgotten her—everything but his cherished dream that was materializing rapidly.

Suddenly her schemes for bringing him low, for avenging his first fancied insult seemed mean and indescribably petty. Her own enterprise—acquiring a rich husband—turned suddenly sordid and tears stung very close to her lashes.

Her companion roused sharply from his reverie, lifted his head and looked down at her searchingly. A curious change came over her face. His eyes narrowed. He had not noted Anne's emotion; her misty eyes were averted. He could see only her drooping shoulders, her head inclined a little towards the window pane—wearily; her whole attitude that of unutterable boredom caught off guard. He crossed abruptly over to the fireplace and stood staring down into the flames, a mocking, self-dervise smile curving his lips.

Of course, he could not expect her to understand or to care about this dream of his. She was of another world; almost of another species—a brilliant, exotic world where such drab realities as work and struggle never intruded. But why had she pretended to be interested?

Why had she encouraged him to make a fool of himself? Again he saw her as he had the first day they met—an unscrupulous flirt, bent on forcing her little due of tribute even from him—her feigned interest, and attention the oft-tried trick of the professional coquette. What he did not perhaps understand, was why this knowledge should stir in him such black depths of unreasoning anger.

"The rain is almost over," he observed after a time, drawing out his watch. "I'm afraid if you are to reach the Lodge before dark—" His tone was punctiliously courteous, but the change in it, the unconscious note of irony, made Anne turn quickly—with unaffected surprise.

"Yes, of course, I must be going," she assented at once, glancing across at him in puzzled, almost shy bewilderment. She guessed that something had happened to alter the whole of their friendly good comradeship. It was almost as if he had divined, somehow, the unworthy purpose that had been in her mind when she started out to find the cabin.

"Why, there's Sheb," she said as she pressed her face closer to the window pane, "coming right out of the mountain here!" She looked inquiringly at her companion.

Glenn glanced indifferently at the window. "Oh, that's an old mining shaft, a relic of the Forty-Niners no doubt, which comes out near the dam. Sheb and I use it for a little private subway. So far as I know, nobody is aware of its existence but the two of us—and you."

Glenn lifted her coat, warm and dry, from the chair in front of the fire, and held it out for her. She slipped into it and donned her coat and gloves.

"I'm afraid," she laughed, "I've been a great nuisance—intruding on this man's paradise of yours." Her tone was slightly ironic, but her mouth trembled a little suspiciously.

"Oh, not at all—" The words were faultlessly polite, but they carried no conviction. Glenn shook himself down into his great coat, took his hat from its peg, and threw open the door. "I will go ahead," he added briefly, "the footing may not be any too safe."

Anne followed Glenn into the chill dusk. He led the way along the familiar trail towards the Lodge. The rain was over as suddenly as it had begun and a stiff wind from the peaks had swept the last moist wisp off the valleys.

For almost an hour they tramped along in silence broken only by the regularly timed inquiries as to how she was coming. Each time she answered "all right" though it became increasingly difficult to keep her footing on the slippery and treacherous trail and a strain on her physical powers to maintain a reasonable distance between them.

Anne began to think as they trudged along that her pacemaker was some god of the mountains, with winged feet.

As Glenn rounded a curve ahead of her she sank down beside the trail, thinking to snatch a moment's rest and then catch up again. She felt she would almost rather die than admit that she was too tired to go on. She could hear him stalking on down the trail and she wondered vaguely how long it would be before he would miss her, if she did not go on at all.

His footsteps died away altogether, and still she could not rouse her numb and aching limbs. Tears of weariness stung sharply in her eyes. Finally, she put her head down on her knees and let them flow unchecked. She had never supposed that anybody could be so tired, just sheer physically tired.

After an interval all too brief she heard him coming back. She lifted her head, dashed away some of the tears and began hastily unlacing one of her boots. Thus engaged she did not see the look of mingled relief and worry in his eyes, as he brought up sharply in front of her. "Give out?" he queried laconically.

"No, rock in my shoe," she answered with equal brevity.

"Humph, that's queer." He dropped to the wet ground, which slushed gurglingly under his weight, and reached for the boot which came two-thirds to her knee. But Anne jerked it off herself and shook out the supposed rock with her final spurt of energy.

"Why didn't you say you were tired?" he demanded rather impatiently.

"I wasn't," Anne lied stoutly, her telltale eyes fixed unswervingly on the boot.

"How did you happen to discover that I was missing?" she parried ironically, resolutely crushing back the tears which still flowed copiously.

"Here's your handkerchief in this pocket," he informed her, a suspicion of appreciative humor lurking behind the gravity of his voice as he took the strings out of her fingers and began to lace up the boot. "I'm afraid," he added more seriously as he jerked the laces into a crisp knot, "the truth is we're up against a pretty disagreeable situation." He helped her to her feet. "Come and see."

A dozen yards or so further on Anne drew back against his restraining arm with a gasp of terror and dismay. The trail was gone! Literally vanished. In its place was a sheer drop of some 12 feet and between the two levels yawned a horizontal gap of perhaps three or four feet. Far below could be heard the roar and rush of swollen waters.

A GLORIFIED CLEAR SKIN

A clear, smooth, lovely skin enhances personal attractiveness! More happiness and friends may depend upon it.

The way to the skin is through the blood. Rich, red, healthy blood nourishes the body and aids in protecting it against infection and disease.

When you take S.S.S. to get rid of these outside blemishes you are building up the system to ward off graver diseases.

S.S.S.

If you are one of the embarrassed—and men are not exceptions—with skin blemishes that linger, and sometimes leave scars, you will want to possess body power to clear up your skin.

S.S.S. will help Nature give you this power. Internal healthfulness will then reflect in your skin a natural loveliness—a skin glorified.

Millions of people have taken advantage of the wonderful medicinal properties in S.S.S. It gives to Nature what it needs to build you up so that your system may throw off the cause.

When your system is filled with rich, red blood, the body's power of resistance to infection and disease is raised. Your appetite should improve. Firm flesh should take the place of that which was once flabby. You should sleep soundly. You should feel strong. Your nerves become steady.

Take S.S.S. daily at mealtime. It promotes healthy body building. Seek energy, vitality and a clear skin through the great blood tonic which is made from strictly fresh vegetable drugs and has stood the test for over 100 years.

All good drug stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.

AVOID THAT FUTURE SHADOW*

By refraining from over-indulgence

You men who would keep trim and fit... you women who covet the tantalizing curves of the truly modern figure—when tempted to do yourself too well, light a Lucky instead. Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. Eat healthfully but not immoderately. When your eyes are bigger than your stomach, light a Lucky instead. Coming events cast their shadows before. Avoid that future shadow by avoiding over-indulgence if you would maintain that lithe, youthful figure.

Lucky Strike, the finest Cigarette you ever smoked, made of the finest tobacco—The Cream of the Crop—"IT'S TOASTED." Everyone knows that heat purifies and so "TOASTING" not only removes impurities but adds to the flavor and improves the taste.

"Coming events cast their shadows before"

LUCKY STRIKE CIGARETTES

"It's toasted"

"It's toasted"

*Be Moderate!... Don't jeopardize the modern form by drastic diets, harmful reducing girdles, fake reducing tablets or other quack "anti-fat" remedies condemned by the Medical profession! Millions of dollars each year are wasted on these ridiculous and dangerous nostrums. Be Sensible! Be Moderate! We do not represent that smoking Lucky Strike Cigarettes will bring modern figures or cause the reduction of flesh. We do declare that when tempted to do yourself too well, if you will "Reach for a Lucky" instead, you will thus avoid over-indulgence in things that cause excess weight and, by avoiding over-indulgence, maintain a modern, graceful form.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Local Miscellany: H. J. Brinkerhoff, Jr., and Robert Rupp gave a delightful phonograph entertainment to a good sized crowd at Mc-Curdy's school house Friday evening.
George E. Stock has purchased from Hon. Wm. T. Ziegler the building on Baltimore street, now occupied by Wm. Hersh, Esq.

Prize Winners: Following is a list of the prize winners at the progressive euchre held in Xavier Hall
Wednesday evening: Ladies' prize,
Miss Gertrude Spalding; second, Miss Gertrude Stoner; third, Miss Estella Codori; fourth,
Miss Stoner; Gentlemen's prize,
Mr. Adam Ertter; second, George Eberhart; third, Jacob Frommeyer; fourth, Charles Weirick.

Entertained Friends: Miss Anna
Codori gave a very enjoyable euchre party to a number of friends at her home on York street Friday evening. The house was beautifully decorated in pink and white.
A bountiful lot of refreshments were served. Those present were:
Misses Katie Smith, Dora From-meyer, Lena Eberhart, Mary Power, Rose Stock, Josephine Kimple, Laura Irvin, Ella Brinkerhoff, Marie Stock, Mary Ramer, Kathleen Power, Dora Stock, Anna and Rose Wisotzky, Blanche Bushman, Carrie, Estelle and Annie Codori;
Messrs. Charles Stock, Arthur Mc-Cleary, Joseph Stock, Jacob From-meyer and John Wisotzky. The prizes were won by the following:
First, Miss Marie Stock; second,
Miss Rose Stock; third, Miss Lena Eberhart, and consolation, Miss Anna Wisotzky.

Will Start Shirt Factory: Charles C. Trostle, who for some time was foreman of the shirt factory in this place, will, we are informed, start a shirt factory, in the York street building, recently vacated. Mr.
Trostle will employ about 40 hands from the start.

Surprise Party: A very enjoyable surprise party was given Mrs. B. D.
Snyder, residing on Hanover street, last Wednesday evening, by a number of her friends, in honor of the fifty-first anniversary of her birth.
Those present were the following:
B. D. Snyder and wife, Pius Althoff and wife, George Gottwald and wife, Charles Dougherty and wife, Edw.
Culp and wife, A. Calvin Basehoar and wife, Harry Hart and wife, Mrs.
Howard Hartman, Mrs. Robert
Schrivner, Mrs. Elias Dillfield, Mrs.
William Gilbert, Mrs. Ellen Bupp;

Snyder, George Gottwald, Jr., Leroy
Hart, John Gottwald, David Dougherty and Wilmer Hart.

Fire Company Officers: Gettysburg Steam Fire Company No. 1, at the meeting last Wednesday evening, elected the following officers to serve for the present year: President, Dr. Henry Stewart; V. President, John Eberhart; Rec. Sec., Francis I. Smith; Financial Sec.,
Arthur McCleary; Treasurer, John L. Hill, Esq.; Chief, E. P. Wisotz-key; First Asst., C. C. Sefton; Trustees, C. B. Kitzmiller, J. Harry Holtzworth and J. E. Carver.

Basehoar—Weidley: Dr. Curtis
Sheely Basehoar and Miss Flora Ross Weidley, of Carlisle, were united in marriage last Thursday morning at the Allison Methodist Episcopal church by the pastor, the Rev.
Dr. W. P. Shriner. The bride is a very popular young lady of Carlisle.
The groom is a son of Amos Basehoar, of Littlestown, and located at Carlisle three years ago. He also is a successful practitioner of dentistry.

A Delightful Social Function: The ball given on Monday night by Chas. W. Holtzworth, Emory J.
Plank, Daniel Wiest, C. C. Sefton,
C. J. Spalding and John Eberhart proved to be one of the most enjoyable social affairs held in Gettysburg for many years. There were nearly 300 present, all of whom went home delighted. The music was furnished by a Frederick orchestra.

Rebekah's Banquet: The sixth annual anniversary of Mary Gettys Lodge No. 105, Daughters of Rebekah, was celebrated Wednesday evening with a banquet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Menchey, Breckenridge street.

After all—about 45 members—had partaken of the sumptuous feast, Hon. Wm. H. Tipton, who acted as toastmaster, spoke briefly on "What Good the Order Did" and then called on members who responded to toasts as follows:
Emory Plank—"Rebekahship." Harry Lackner—"What good the order has done for the Odd Fellows Orphanage."

William Garlach—"How the local order has progressed during the last six years."

J. I. Mumper—"What the Odd Fellows do, and what they ought to do."

Robert Miller—"How the different orders have grown during the last six years."

The house was decorated with pink and green, the colors of the order. Beautiful bouquets of carnations adorned the tables.

The banqueting committee consisted of Mrs. H. C. Lackner, Mrs.
N. L. Wierman, Mrs. James Weaver,
Mrs. John A. Menchey and Mrs. R.
C. Miller.

Personal: Miss Alma Comfort, who has been spending the winter in Florida, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Comfort.

Jacob Ramer, who for some time has been clerking in the People's Drug Store, has resigned his position and will again travel for the Ridgely Protective Association.

Dr. Paul H. Biele, a son of Dr.
and Mrs. P. M. Biele, of this place, entered on his duties as resident physician in the University of Pennsylvania Hospital yesterday.
James B. Slaybaugh, of Denver,
Col., is visiting his brother, E. E.
Slaybaugh.

Miss Mabel Myers, after spending several weeks with her parents, returned on Monday to the Peabody Institute, Baltimore.

Charles A. Blocher spent several days in New York last week on business.

Miss Anna McPherson was bridesmaid at the Heiland-Cannon wedding at Bridgeville, Del., last Wednesday.

Miss Ida Grenoble, telephone operator at Biglerville, spent several days with her parents in this place last week.

Just Folks

WORRY

Oh, little does the worrying do,
Small good we gain by fretting.
'Twere better far for me and you
To cultivate forgetting.
Let's stir the fires of faith and keep
The coals of courage glowing.
And all the secret times we weep,
Let no one else be knowing.

The trifling cares that weigh us down
Are never ceased by sighing;
A smile is braver than a frown,
And far more satisfying.

Oh, what if skies are dull today?
The sun may shine tomorrow;
Let's put the petty hurts away
And save our tears for sorrow.

Small good it does to fume and fret
And worry over trifles,
Too much gloom, like ashes wet,
The fire of courage stifles.

Let's keep our brave hearts in repair,
Our faith the best of all things, Staunch for the griefs that we must bear;
Not broken down by small things.

Little Jack
Rabbit

By David Cory

Now, let me think just for a moment. Our little bunny has been traveling so fast through Bunny Fairland that I must must keep "Remmy," my faithful typewriter friend, forever on the go. Yes, sir,
"Remmy" must gallop along as fast as a horse to keep up with the doings of our little bunny traveler.

Well, to return to where we left off in the last story, the great clock had just struck midnight when the brave little rabbit peeped out of his room in the great castle, in which, you remember, a wicked lord has imprisoned a lovely maiden. The long hall was dark as night, except where a shaft of moonlight fell upon a cage in which sat a little bird.

"Sch-sch-sch!" cautioned the little bird. "Step softly."

"I'm on my tippy-toes," whispered the little rabbit.

"Open the door to my cage," went on the little bird. "Now, follow me," she added, and up the winding staircase she fluttered to the top floor of the great castle. "Yonder on the wall hangs the key to the maiden's room," whispered the little bird. "Take it down and wait here awhile. I'll fly around to her window and whisper through the iron bars that you will open the door."

All atremble, the little bunny took down the key and waited.
Pretty soon he heard the little bird's voice through the keyhole.
"Unlock the door." Still all atremble, the little rabbit turned the key. Slowly the door swung open and there stood the lovely maiden, her cheeks pale as white roses and her eyes like violets tipped with dew.

"How are we going to pass the retainers who guard the castle?"
asked the little rabbit. "Even if we are able to creep down the stairway unnoticed, we hardly can hope to pass the guards at the great doors."

"We must find a way," twittered the little bird, and she fluttered to the window and pointed to a stout vine that had grown up from the ground below. Suddenly, as if by magic, little steps grew out of the thick woody part of the vine.

"Come," whispered the little bird, turning to the maiden. "Step out on the wonderful vine ladder which has grown right up to your windowsill. Be careful not to slip as you climb down."

For a moment the lovely maiden hesitated. Then, drawing her robe about her, she bravely stepped out of the window to the vine. Strange to say it held without a tremor, although heretofore in a high wind
it had often swayed to and fro.

Down and down climbed the maiden, and hoppers hop followed the little rabbit, with never a slip and nary a trip, his knapsack tightly strapped to his shoulder and his red striped candy cane swinging from his left paw. At last they stood upon the courtyard pavement.
But, oh dear me! Not far away lay a sentinel, fast asleep.

"Do not move," whispered the little bird. "Wait for me," and away she flew. In a few moments she returned with a flower in her

7 Hours in Bed and Not 7
Minutes' Sleep!

The Toll Acidity Takes

When you go to bed dog-tired and still can't sleep and you rise in the morning more tired than when you went to bed, it's a sign you're acid.
Excess acid formed in the stomach as a result of our unnatural eating habits, causes acid-indigestion with gas, sourness and burning and sets up poisonous putrefaction in the gastro-intestinal canal which saps our strength and vitality and so taxes our nerves that we can't sleep at night or work efficiently during the day.

Magnesia Oxids, developed in Germany by a famous, 100-year-old pharmaceutical house, correct acidity in the right way! Upon contact with the acid in the stomach, Magnesia Oxids generate nascent, or active, oxygen. The oxygen stimulates the alkaline gastric mucus, checks putrefaction in the gastro-intestinal canal and stimu-lates the activities of the intestinal walls which aids the natural movement of the bowels. All three effects are necessary to the true correction of acidity.

5-Day Acid Test

To ascertain just how you are, make this test. Get a package of Magnesia Oxids from the People's Drug Store or any other good druggist. Take two after each meal for a few days and see how much better you feel—how much more soundly you sleep and how much more energy you have. If you don't get more than amazing results, return the balance of the Oxids to the druggist and he will refund the purchase price promptly and in full.

Relies Upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Rankin, Illinois.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as a tonic before and after my first child was born six years ago. Then when my second child came and I felt weak and run-down, I took it again. I am still taking it and I am feeling better. My mother used it for herself when I was small and always got good results. She still takes it. I do all kinds of heavy work, including my housework and I also help in the field. I recommend the Vegetable Compound and I am willing to answer any letters."—Mrs. BEN OHNS- LAND, Route 2, Rankin, Illinois.

Gypsy World Postoffice Is Arkansas Drugstore

Fort Smith, Ark. (AP)—Gypsy trails from all over the world lead to the Cole drugstore here, the unofficial international postoffice of the nomads.

Oddly enough, a woman, Mrs. W. H. Cole, who is not a gypsy, is their administratrix and each year handles thousands of dollars for her wandering friends, in addition to the 10,000 telegrams, cablegrams and letters that come to her for delivery annually.

Under the Gypsy laws a "gorgio," or outsider, handles their affairs for them.

From the unpretentious little drug store that hides deep in the shadow of a broad viaduct at the end of Fort Smith's main business street, the paths of the Gypsies cross. It is from here that the nomad kings hand down the laws for the tribes.

Letters and telegrams from all corners of the earth come to Mrs. Cole for delivery.

Mr. Cole, when 11 years old, was adopted into a tribe of Spanish Gypsies and traveled with them for 30 years, visiting practically every section of the globe and learning the names and locations of the various tribes.

When he settled down here, the Gypsies began communicating with their friends through him.

Mrs. Cole succeeded him in this work. The Coles knew the location of practically every tribe in existence. Every dark-skinned wanderer finds a friend at this store, and the Coles say that the Gypsies always have paid them for their kindnesses.

"They never forget a friend, and never forgive an enemy," says Mrs. Cole. "They are very generous, and very unconventional in money matters. Much like children, they are impetuous, and of happy temperament."

Mrs. Cole says there are about 100,000 Gypsies in the world, and about 5,000 in the United States.

Goitre Not A Disease

Milwaukee Doctor Makes Remarkable Discovery

Milwaukee, Wis.—It has been brought to light by scientific research that goitre is not a disease and is not to be treated as such. Dr. A. A. Rock, Dept. F 26, Box 737, Milwaukee, Wis., a prominent goitre specialist for over 24 years, has perfected a different method of treatment for his patients that has proved remarkably successful. This same method is now being used for a home treatment of goitre cases all over the country with astonishing results. The Doctor states that goitre is a condition which grows worse with neglect and recommends immediate attention no matter how small the growth may appear. He strongly opposes needless operations. Dr. Rock is the author of a book that tells in a simple way about treating goitre at home. He has published this book at his own expense and will send a copy free to anyone interested. The voice of the colored race sings out gloriously from the speaking screen as "Hallelujah" makes its amazing bow to the world. No picture was ever more keenly awaited than King Vidor's exciting romance. Daring, but true, it pictures in racy dialogue and heart-stirring song, the true life, the reckless loves, the gripping drama of the world's most picturesque people. Come to the dusky cabarets, the gambling hells, the revivalist meetings, the cotton fields — prepare to attend the picture that is to be the most discussed in years.

League Seeks Economic Basis For World Peace

By Plautus I. Lipsey, Jr.

Geneva (AP)—While the world has been watching momentous events in international politics—chiefly concerned with Anglo-American relations and naval questions—the League of Nations in the last quarter of 1929 has been carrying out an extensive economic program. Leaders of the league's economic work, pleased and hopeful because of their political brethren's apparent progress toward disarmament and security, are striving to develop a spirit of economic cooperation among nations as their contribution to world peace.

Widest interest, perhaps, attaches to launching of the scheme for a "tariff truce." The league's economic committee has framed a draft treaty for the proposed customs armistice and governments of all countries have been asked to give their opinions as to the advisability of holding a diplomatic conference as a further step.

The economic committee also has arranged to convene early in 1930 a meeting of experts from all parts of the world to study agricultural industries, which are said to be generally in a poor state.

The fiscal committee, which, like the economic committee, has an and limit its consumption. The strictest control will be exercised on shipments of the dangerous drug and any quantity of it seized will be destroyed and the dealers punished.

He will also reduce the number of gambling dens by raising taxation on gambling. In time, he hopes, public gambling will cease because it will not be a paying proposition.

American member, has contributed a plan for eliminating double taxation, and another plan for abolishing taxation on touring automobiles in foreign countries.

A multilateral agreement for equal treatment of foreigners was devised at Paris in November by a conference under league auspices. Questions involved in this cooperative move also are largely economic.

Another league-engendered conference at Paris hopes to give effect to the treaty for abolition of import and export restrictions and prohibitions, which the United States has ratified.

These activities are the work of the league Secretariat. The International Labor Office, the league's institution which deals with industrial matters, also has been active.

Anxious because of the chaos in the European coal world, the Labor office has summoned for January a meeting of technical experts from nine principal coal producing countries to make a reconnoitering attack on problems in this basic industry.

A survey of living costs in the great industrial cities of Europe has been organized by the Labor office. This survey is in response to a request from the Ford Motor company of Detroit, which wants information that will serve as a basis for fixing a wage scale in its projected European factories equivalent to the wage scale for its American plants.

The recent Maritime conference of the I. L. O. examined conditions affecting shipping companies and commercial seamen, and proposals for improving these conditions. The discussions are expected to bear fruit in a later conference at a date yet undetermined.

A formula for a world-wide inquiry into working conditions in the textile industry was adopted this month by the textile committee of the International Labor Office. It is hoped that this inquiry will ultimately encourage improvement and standardization of conditions of textile factory work, and remove inequalities which are now handicapping the industry in some European countries.

England Seeks Duty-Free Coffee

London (AP)—England is drinking even less coffee than usual, and the Coffee Trade Association is so worried about it that it has asked the Chancellor of the Exchequer to put coffee in line with tea by abolishing the import duty.

Normally, the Englishman consumes about 19,000 tons of coffee annually—or 10 ounces per capita as opposed to the 10½ pounds of the American. In 1929 this modest total was reduced by about 500 tons.

No one has suggested a good reason why a country which already drank so little coffee should have used still less in 1929, unless it is that financial stringency has caused an increased number of people to turn from coffee to the cheaper tea.

Certainly no medical anti-coffee crusade has inspired the drop; for those British doctors who have made recent pronouncements on the topic have paid high tribute to the stimulating and invigorating action of coffee.

Miami has 12 airports. Nine are landing fields, three bases for sea-planes.

EX-PROF RUNS COAST GUARDS

Rear Admiral F. C. Billard, Commandant Of Coast Guard, Was a Teacher.

Washington (AP)—A physically compact former teacher, given to saying things succinctly, is Rear Adm. F. C. Billard, commandant of the coast guard.

Papers on the desk jiggled as taps of an emphasizing finger punctuated remarks about his now famous statement that the coast guard will not use "amiable gestures" in stopping liquor smuggling.

The Billard pronouncement dropped into the restless sea of controversy over prohibition enforcement, caused widely varying comment here and brought a new focusing of national attention on the coast guard, its works and its men.

"The coast guard is indoctrinated with the idea of doing any job given to it—expeditiously, efficiently, and fairly," Admiral Billard said.

"Preventing liquor smuggling is the most difficult task that ever has confronted the coast guard, or any sea force, for that matter.

"We are going and have gone about this thing strictly within the law. If somebody gets hurt, we regret that. But we cannot help it if they violate a fundamental law of the country which we are charged with enforcing."

Doing its job well is religion with the coast guard and its commander sees the task of preventing liquor smuggling as something that must be accomplished to keep the historic record of the service free from failures.

The most important duty of the service, in peace times, is saving life and property at sea, and in 1929 it rescued from peril or saved the lives of 4,375 persons.

Admiral Billard, directing the widely spaced forces against liquor smuggling, was named commandant of the coast guard in 1924, just 30 years to the day after he entered the service as a cadet. His sea-wrinkled eyes have seen plenty of service.

There was the time when the U. S. S. Aphrodite, of which he was in command, bumped a mine in the North sea and her stern crumpled. But she made port. Her commander was awarded the navy cross for service in European waters.

Admiral Billard left a teacher's desk to enter the coast guard. He was commissioned an ensign in 1896. He has served on all the coasts of the United States and in Alaskan, Hawaiian and West Indian waters.

Sub-tropical Hawaii is closer to the territory of Alaska than to the United States.

BEWARE THE COUGH FROM COLDS THAT HANG ON

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

CREOMULSION FOR THE COUGH FROM COLDS THAT HANG ON

PENN. mother proves her idea is right...

"My little son was bilious and upset," says Mrs. Mary Sarsfield, 5131 Hoopes St., Philadelphia. "He had no appetite, his breath was bad, his tongue was coated, and he was nearly always tired and sleepy."

"He seemed to have trouble with his stomach and bowels and I had an idea California Fig Syrup would help him. He brightened up marvelously with the first few doses. At the end of a week, he was a different boy. I have used California Fig Syrup with him every time he has had a cold or upset, and I give it a lot of credit for his wonderful condition."

California Fig Syrup never fails to cleanse the system of bilious, headachy, feverish or constipated children, quickly and gently. It never gripes or sickens. Children love its flavor. A pure vegetable product with the highest endorsement of doctors. It helps Nature give tone and strength to the stomach and bowels.

All drug stores have the generous bottles. The name "California" marks the genuine.

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP THE RICH, FRUITY LAXATIVE AND TONIC FOR CHILDREN

It's easy to see from his wonderful condition that this little fellow's mother knows what to do when his stomach or bowels go wrong. No drugs for her. Nothing but pure vegetable California Fig Syrup. At least a million families are never without a bottle of it in the home!

End Eczema Tortures Forever

No Need to Suffer Another Day There is one simple yet inexpensive way to stop the itching and torture of Eczema instantly, and that is to apply Moone's Emerald Oil night and morning and people who suffer from any embarrassing or disfiguring skin trouble would be wise to banish it before it reaches a more or less chronic stage. Ask People's Drug store or any first-class druggist for an original two-ounce bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil (full-strength) and refuse to accept anything in its place. It is such a highly concentrated preparation that two ounces last a long time, and furthermore, if this wonderful discovery does not give you complete satisfaction you can have your money refunded. Special note: People who want to reduce swollen or varicose veins should get a bottle of Emerald Oil at once. By applying night and morning as directed they will quickly notice an improvement which will continue until the veins and bunches are reduced to normal. Adv.

Orange in Color and that's not the only difference

It's colored orange to distinguish it from ordinary gasoline--and that's not the only difference. The real difference lies not in its color, not in what we say about it in the newspapers, but in the way it performs in your car.

Your motor can't see colors, can't read advertisements, can't be influenced by claims and counter-claims. But it knows good gas when it gets it. And you'll know it knows by the way your car will step away with the first tankful of ORANGE AMERICAN GAS.

We're telling you it's better. Thousands of motorists will tell you it's better. Your car will prove it is better. Start today.

Washington Highlights

By Herbert Plummer

Washington—On almost any night of the week, in Washington's movie district, a robust man with short, quick step may be seen going toward a theatre.

If the theatre is crowded he waits patiently with the others until he can find a seat. If there is plenty of space inside he slips in quietly and takes a seat. Sometimes he is alone; at other times he has a companion.

And there are very few who recognize him as Kenneth D. McKellar, senior United States senator from Tennessee, and one of the leading spokesmen of the democratic minority in that body.

Senator McKellar is probably the champion movie-goer of congress. No one, unless it is Hiram Johnson of California, gets the kick out of this form of entertainment and recreation that he does.

Movies—silent and talking—are his favorite diversion.

Golf Forgotten

He owns a fine set of golf clubs, but has forgotten when he used them last.

Sometimes he gets out his trim little car and drives over the near-by Virginia and Maryland hills, but chances are that he has seen a movie first.

He reads a great deal, preferably books dealing with the reconstruction period in American history and Andrew Jackson. He is a great admirer of Jackson and Jacksonian principles. Once, when it was proposed that the famous "rocking horse" statue of Old Hickory be removed from Lafayette square, across from the White House, McKellar so vigorously opposed it that President Harding wrote him:

"I think you may give every assurance to your fellow citizens in the home state of Jackson that Washington would not contemplate for a moment any indignity to his revered memory."

On the floor of the senate, answering in great detail a magazine article on Rachel, wife of Jackson, he characterized the whole thing as a "cruel, inhuman and untrue attack upon the reputation and character of one of the best women who ever lived, a devout Christian and noble woman."

A Bachelor Senator

Senator McKellar is a bachelor—one of the few ever to serve in the United States senate. He makes his home in one of the downtown hotels.

In the biography he furnishes the congressional directory you will find no mention of his age. He merely states that he was born in Richmond, Dallas county, Alabama. Educated at the University of Alabama, upon being graduated in law he moved to Memphis, Tenn., to practice his profession. Well on his way to becoming a rich man, he decided to enter politics. He was elected to the house of representatives, served in three congresses, then entered the race for the senate and was successful. He is now be-

Severe Coughing Spells Quickly Ended

Distressing coughs cannot tire out and weaken you this winter if you take Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. Each dose carries the curative balsamic virtues of pure pine Tar, fresh demulcent Honey, with other valuable cough healing ingredients, into direct contact with the irritated throat surfaces, covering them with a healing, soothing coating, ending the distressing cough. Its quick medicinal action is not hindered by opiates nor chloroform. Is mildly laxative, quickly effective, dependable for coughs, tickling throat, hoarseness, croupy and bronchial coughs, troublesome night coughs. Ask for Foley's Honey and Tar. Fat Comes At Forty Sometimes in earlier years. It comes when a certain gland grows weak. That is what modern authorities find. And physicians the world over now combat that cause.

The method they use is embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. People have used them for 22 years—millions of boxes of them. Now in every circle you can see what slender figures, what health and vigor that right method brings. And all without abnormal exercise or diet.

Every box of Marmola contains the formula and facts. Users know the results for all good effects. In fairness to yourself, go try Marmola. Watch the results. All druggists supply it at $1 a box.

BEST FOR INDIGESTION

Thousands With Poor, Weak Stomachs Now Taking Pepsin In New Liquid Form.

PHARMACISTS PRAISE IT

Stops Acute Kind in Few Minutes—What a Blessing!

Here's a delightful elixir with plenty of real pepsin, some Menthol and just enough of several other stomach correctives to make it capable of putting almost any weak, rundown, abused stomach in first class shape—and it tastes like the most palatable nectar.

The men who created this supremely good formula know their business—they don't believe in nasty tasting medicine and the people are with them for Dare's Mentha Pepsin—that's the name—is having a tremendous sale all over the country. They have passed along the word to every druggist in the country that if Dare's Mentha Pepsin doesn't bring serene comfort to any worn-out, rundown, sickly, gassy stomach that the owner of that most important internal organ can have his or her money back.

Stubborn indigestion of years standing is hard to get rid of, but Dare's Mentha Pepsin will do it; one enthusiastic druggist asserts—It's real pepsin in liquid form—the right way to take pepsin. People's Drug store always has a big supply on hand. Adv.

About New York

By Richard Massock

New York—Beauty unadorned is relied upon this season as the Broadway night clubs' chief attraction.

The result of this recrudescence of skin exposure is a new act, borrowed from the bare revues of recent winters, in which a comely corymbus dances some, sings a little, but mostly smiles and poses before the chorus joins her.

For this part, the night club impresarios obtain the most beautiful girls they can find among Broadway's unemployed. The salary is approximately that of a show girl—$75 to $100 a week—and the recruits are frequently the clothes-props of musical comedy, many of whom this season are "at leisure."

Night-Blooming Youth

These girls are hired for their alluring charms. Whatever other talents they happen to possess are only incidental to their decorative assignment.

The real steppers and singers are in the chorus, always a collection of enthusiastic youth, whose salaries are $50 a week. In the intimate floor shows the girls must be freshly pretty, for they are scrutinized at little more than arm's length, from which distance the marks of age or dissipation would be only too noticeable. Hence the average chorus age is under 20.

Nor are they, as a rule, the hardened maidens one might suspect. Their ultimate aim is musical comedy and they work for the "breaks."

There are, of course, some who are never graduated out of the show girl classification. In an off-season they take to modeling clothes in the Fifth Avenue shops, or in the garment jobbers' show-rooms. The most common tragedy that ends their brief careers is the accumulation of flesh. Their figures are their fortune and once they lose the former, they are soon retired.

Entertainment Cheaper

The prevalence of undressed acts in the cabarets is in sharp contrast with the musical shows, which this season, with few exceptions, have been adorned with the ample gowns of operetta or the long skirts of modern fashion, still new enough to be a novelty.

The girls, always the backbone of cabaret shows, have taken on a greater prominence, too, as big-name attractions have been withdrawn. Only occasionally is a well-established star, such as Libby Holman, featured by a club. The after-theater showmen are retrenching.

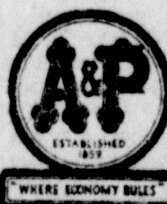

The adagio dancers of recent vogue have given way to ballroom, or tango, teams. Of these, but few have attained even local note—Rosita and Ramon, Medrana and Donna, and—let's see; oh it doesn't matter.

Where these few command salaries in the thousands, other teams of unknowns work for a joint salary of $150 to $200 a week. The latter figure was what the daughter of a wealthy ink manufacturer and her partner earned in a certain club last season.

Show girls, such as Joyce Hawley, Beryl Halley and Dorothy Knapp, have their big years before people begin asking what became of them, but it's harder for a dancing team to cause even momentary sensation.

Canberra (AP).—There has been a heavy falling off in migration to Australia. In 1929 the net gain to the Commonwealth through new arrivals appears to be only 4,124, whereas in 1928 it was 19,245, and in 1927, 33,876.

THIS MAN PUZZLED—LOST 19

POUNDS OF FAT IN 22 DAYS

Wants to Know Where the Fat Went to

This man was fat—60 pounds over weight—wanted to stay home every night and nurse the old arm chair—getting in and out of his auto was all the exercise he cared for—his desire for any form of activity had died years ago.

Then one night as he read the evening paper cheering news broke for him—he read the story of Kruschen Salts—what it was doing for the fat folks of America—tens of thousands of them—they were losing fat—and plenty of it.

The next morning he started—one generous half teaspoon of Kruschen in a glass of hot water before breakfast—every morning the same—in a week he wanted to walk to business—he didn't know why—but the urge for activity seemed to flood his whole being and he followed the urge.

His wife was astonished—delighted—and when one evening he said with eagerness—"Let's go to a show tonight dear,"—her joy was unbounded.

That virile Kruschen feeling that means more energy—more vigor—more ambition took possession of him—he took long walks every day—and enjoyed them.

He got on the scales one evening and came home with sprightly step—"eleven pounds of fat gone!" he almost hollered—he danced a few steps with the activeness of youth—and his wife danced with him.

In 22 days 19 pounds of unneeded and unwanted fat had left him and he marveled—and his friends marveled with him.

"Where did it all go to?" he asked and no one could answer.

Kruschen Salts drives poisonous waste from the system—it acts on liver, kidneys and stomach and keeps them in tiptop condition—it keeps you feeling fit and fine all the time.

People's Drug store and leading druggists America over sell Kruschen Salts for 85c a bottle which lasts 4 weeks.

STOPS THAT TOUGH HANG-ON COUGH THAT RACKS YOUR WHOLE BODY

For simple coughs any simple sweet sugary cough syrup will probably do.

But when you want to throw out of your system one of those old timers that simply won't be conquered, but lingers on and on causing sleepless night and days of torment then you've just got to have a real cough medicine.

Then you must ask your druggist for a bottle of Bronchiline Emulsion for the harder and tougher and tighter they come the more joy Bronchiline gets in knocking them out.

Bronchiline isn't a cheap cough conqueror—mind you, for first raters are never cheap. But if you are one of the unlucky ones that a persistent, health destroying cough is pushing towards the grave, get a bottle today and notice how the first dose takes right hold and soothes the terrible soreness.

Often three or four doses bring blessed relief and half a bottle forces the most stubborn cough into submission.

"A bottle of magic" one old man calls Bronchiline Emulsion. He was all worn out and ready to give up when a friend brought him the good news about Bronchiline.

Don't let a cough hang on—it's dangerous company—Get rid of it quick. Ask People's Drug store or any up to the times druggist for a bottle of Bronchiline Emulsion.
